WHEN HUMANITY FAILS

When Humanity Fails

Cohen Library Archives Gallery

November 6-December 3, 2014

The When Humanity Fails exhibition is an introduction to the events that led to the creation and eventual liberationof the concentration camps of World War II. Through archival photographs and film footage, personal audio testimonies, and interactives, audiences witness society's failure and are asked to consider the responsibility ofindividuals and their communities in the upholding of human rights. Personal stories are presented within an historical context enabling visitors to connect on historical, political, and personal levels.

The exhibition illustrates the tragic history of the camps but also the heroic stories of liberation and survival that marked their end.

This exhibit is free and open to the public.

The Cohen Library Archives is located in the NAC Building of The City College of New York at 160 Convent Avenue between 136th and 138th Streets, New York, NY 10031.
