Graeme Brooker: Selected Bibliography

"Interiority" Spitzer School of Architecture Lecture – February 13, 2014

About:

Graeme Brooker is the Head of the Department of Fashion and Interiors at Middlesex University London, having earned his master's degree in 1995. Between 1997 and 2004 he taught interior architecture at Cardiff before moving to Manchester where, from 2004 to 2011, he was the program leader of both the BA and MA Interior programs and the head of the Centre for Design Research. From 2011-2013 he was principal lecturer in interior architecture and urbanism at the University of Brighton. Brooker's research interests focus on the cultural, historical and philosophical implications of the creation of the interior and the reuse of existing spaces and buildings. He has written and published widely on this subject, including the highly acclaimed Rereadings, (2005). He is an editor for the publisher Ashgate and he is also a member of the editorial advisory board of the magazine Interiors: Design: Architecture: Culture published by BERG. He is the founder of Interior Educators (IE), the national subject association for interiors courses in the UK. He served as its inaugural chair from 2006 - 2008. Brooker was re-elected as its director in April 2010 and is now the director of trustees of the IE charity.
