Tim Maly
Selected Bibliography

Works Like Magic
Thursday, October 19, 2017

About:

Tim Maly is a professor in the Masters of Industrial Design program at the Rhode Island School of Design (RISD). He is a writer, design journalist, and fellow at Harvard’s metaLAB. He co-wrote The Inspection House: An Impertinent Field Guide to Modern Surveillance, published by Coach House Press with Emily Horne.

Tim Maly is also co-founder of The Dredge Research Collaborative, an organization that studies rarely acknowledged landscape architecture. His work has appeared in Wired, The Atlantic, Volume, and Urban Omnibus.

Books (2017):

Articles listed above are available in the CCNY Architecture Library except where noted.

Websites:

The Dredge Research Collaborative – independent nonprofit organization

http://dredgeresearchcollaborative.org

Nilda Sanchez-Rodriguez, Architecture Librarian
October 2017

Image: https://www.wired.com