David Hotson: Selected Bibliography

“The Present Tense of Space”
Spitzer School of Architecture Lecture – February 27, 2014

About:

David Hotson earned his MArch from Yale, following his Bachelor of Environmental Design degree from the University of Waterloo. At Yale he received the SOM Foundation’s Traveling Fellowship which funded a year in travel in the Mediterranean, Africa and the Middle East. In 1991 Hotson set up a private practice, David Hotson Architect, in NYC. He collaborated with Maya Lin (a Yale classmate) on a number of projects following her Vietnam Veterans Memmorial. He has worked also with Santiago Calatrava, Ricardo Legorreta, and David Adjaye. The firm specializes in high-end residential work. One of his prize-winning and most published projects was SkyHouse, (2012).

Books:

Books listed above are available in the CCNY Architecture Library except where noted.
Articles:

Web Sites:

David Hotson. hotson.net The firm’s web site.

Judy Connorton, Architecture Librarian