About:

Neil Spiller is Hawksmoor Chair of Architecture and Landscape as well as Deputy Pro Vice-Chancellor of the University of Greenwich in London. Prior to this, Neil was Professor and Dean of the School of Architecture, Design and Construction at Greenwich University. He was previously Vice-Dean and Graduate Director of Design at the Bartlett School of Architecture, University College London.

Neil Spiller’s research is centred upon how architecture is invigorated by cyberspace, and the different parameters of these spaces can be used to inform one another. He is internationally renowned for his drawn architectural design work which has been published and exhibited on many occasions worldwide. He also produced the epic COMMUNICATING VESSELS project. His new book Surrealism and Architecture: A Blistering Romance will be published in October 2016.
